To date, my professional role includes creating interactive experiences, digital marketing, and UI/UX innovation. Throughout my career, I have brought the disciplines of broadcast design and interactive strategies to every project. Here are a few highlights:

- Constant vigilance towards consumer trends
- Proficient in-depth knowledge of technology and innovation
- Documentation and communication meaningful to a team
- Creative approach to concept and design presentations
- User-centric design principles and testing

Hopefully, we can have a conversation about future interactive projects. I am always looking for new and creative approaches to digital media. My desire is to engage in team building with an organic and informed creative process. Thank you for taking the time to review my resume and portfolio.

I feel we can create meaningful and profitable products together.

Thank you for your consideration,
Blake McWhirter
